1. Application Process

- Follow steps 1-8 as listed in Application Process: International Student Living Outside the U.S., with the exceptions being that the applicant can receive the I-20 in person, rather than being mailed.

2. Choose your Change of Status Option

- Option 1: Applicant obtains I-20 and travels back to home country to apply for reentry to the U.S. as an F-1 student. For individuals on temporary visas, this is usually the best option, increasing the likelihood that F-1 status will be approved.
- Option 2: Applicant obtains I-20 and then attempts to change status while in the U.S. by completing the Form I-539 Application to Change Nonimmigrant Status. This change of status request is often denied for applicants of certain visa classifications. Consult with Registrar or Assistant Registrar to determine what might be your best option.

3. After Change of Status is Complete

- After the applicant's change of status has been completed successfully, the applicant must complete the following steps at Lee College:
 - Complete state-required Texas Success Initiative (TSI) testing, which requires a measure of college readiness in English reading, writing, and mathematics and is used to determine placement. International students are subject to all TSI policies and required testing. Scores from these tests are not used to grant or deny admission to the college.
 - Meet with Registrar or Assistant Registrar.
 - Meet with an advisor in the Counseling Center to determine which classes will be taken.
